The staff of the 1965 TAWASI chose as its theme -- Crossroads -- and found that there is seldom a crossroad without a guide post.

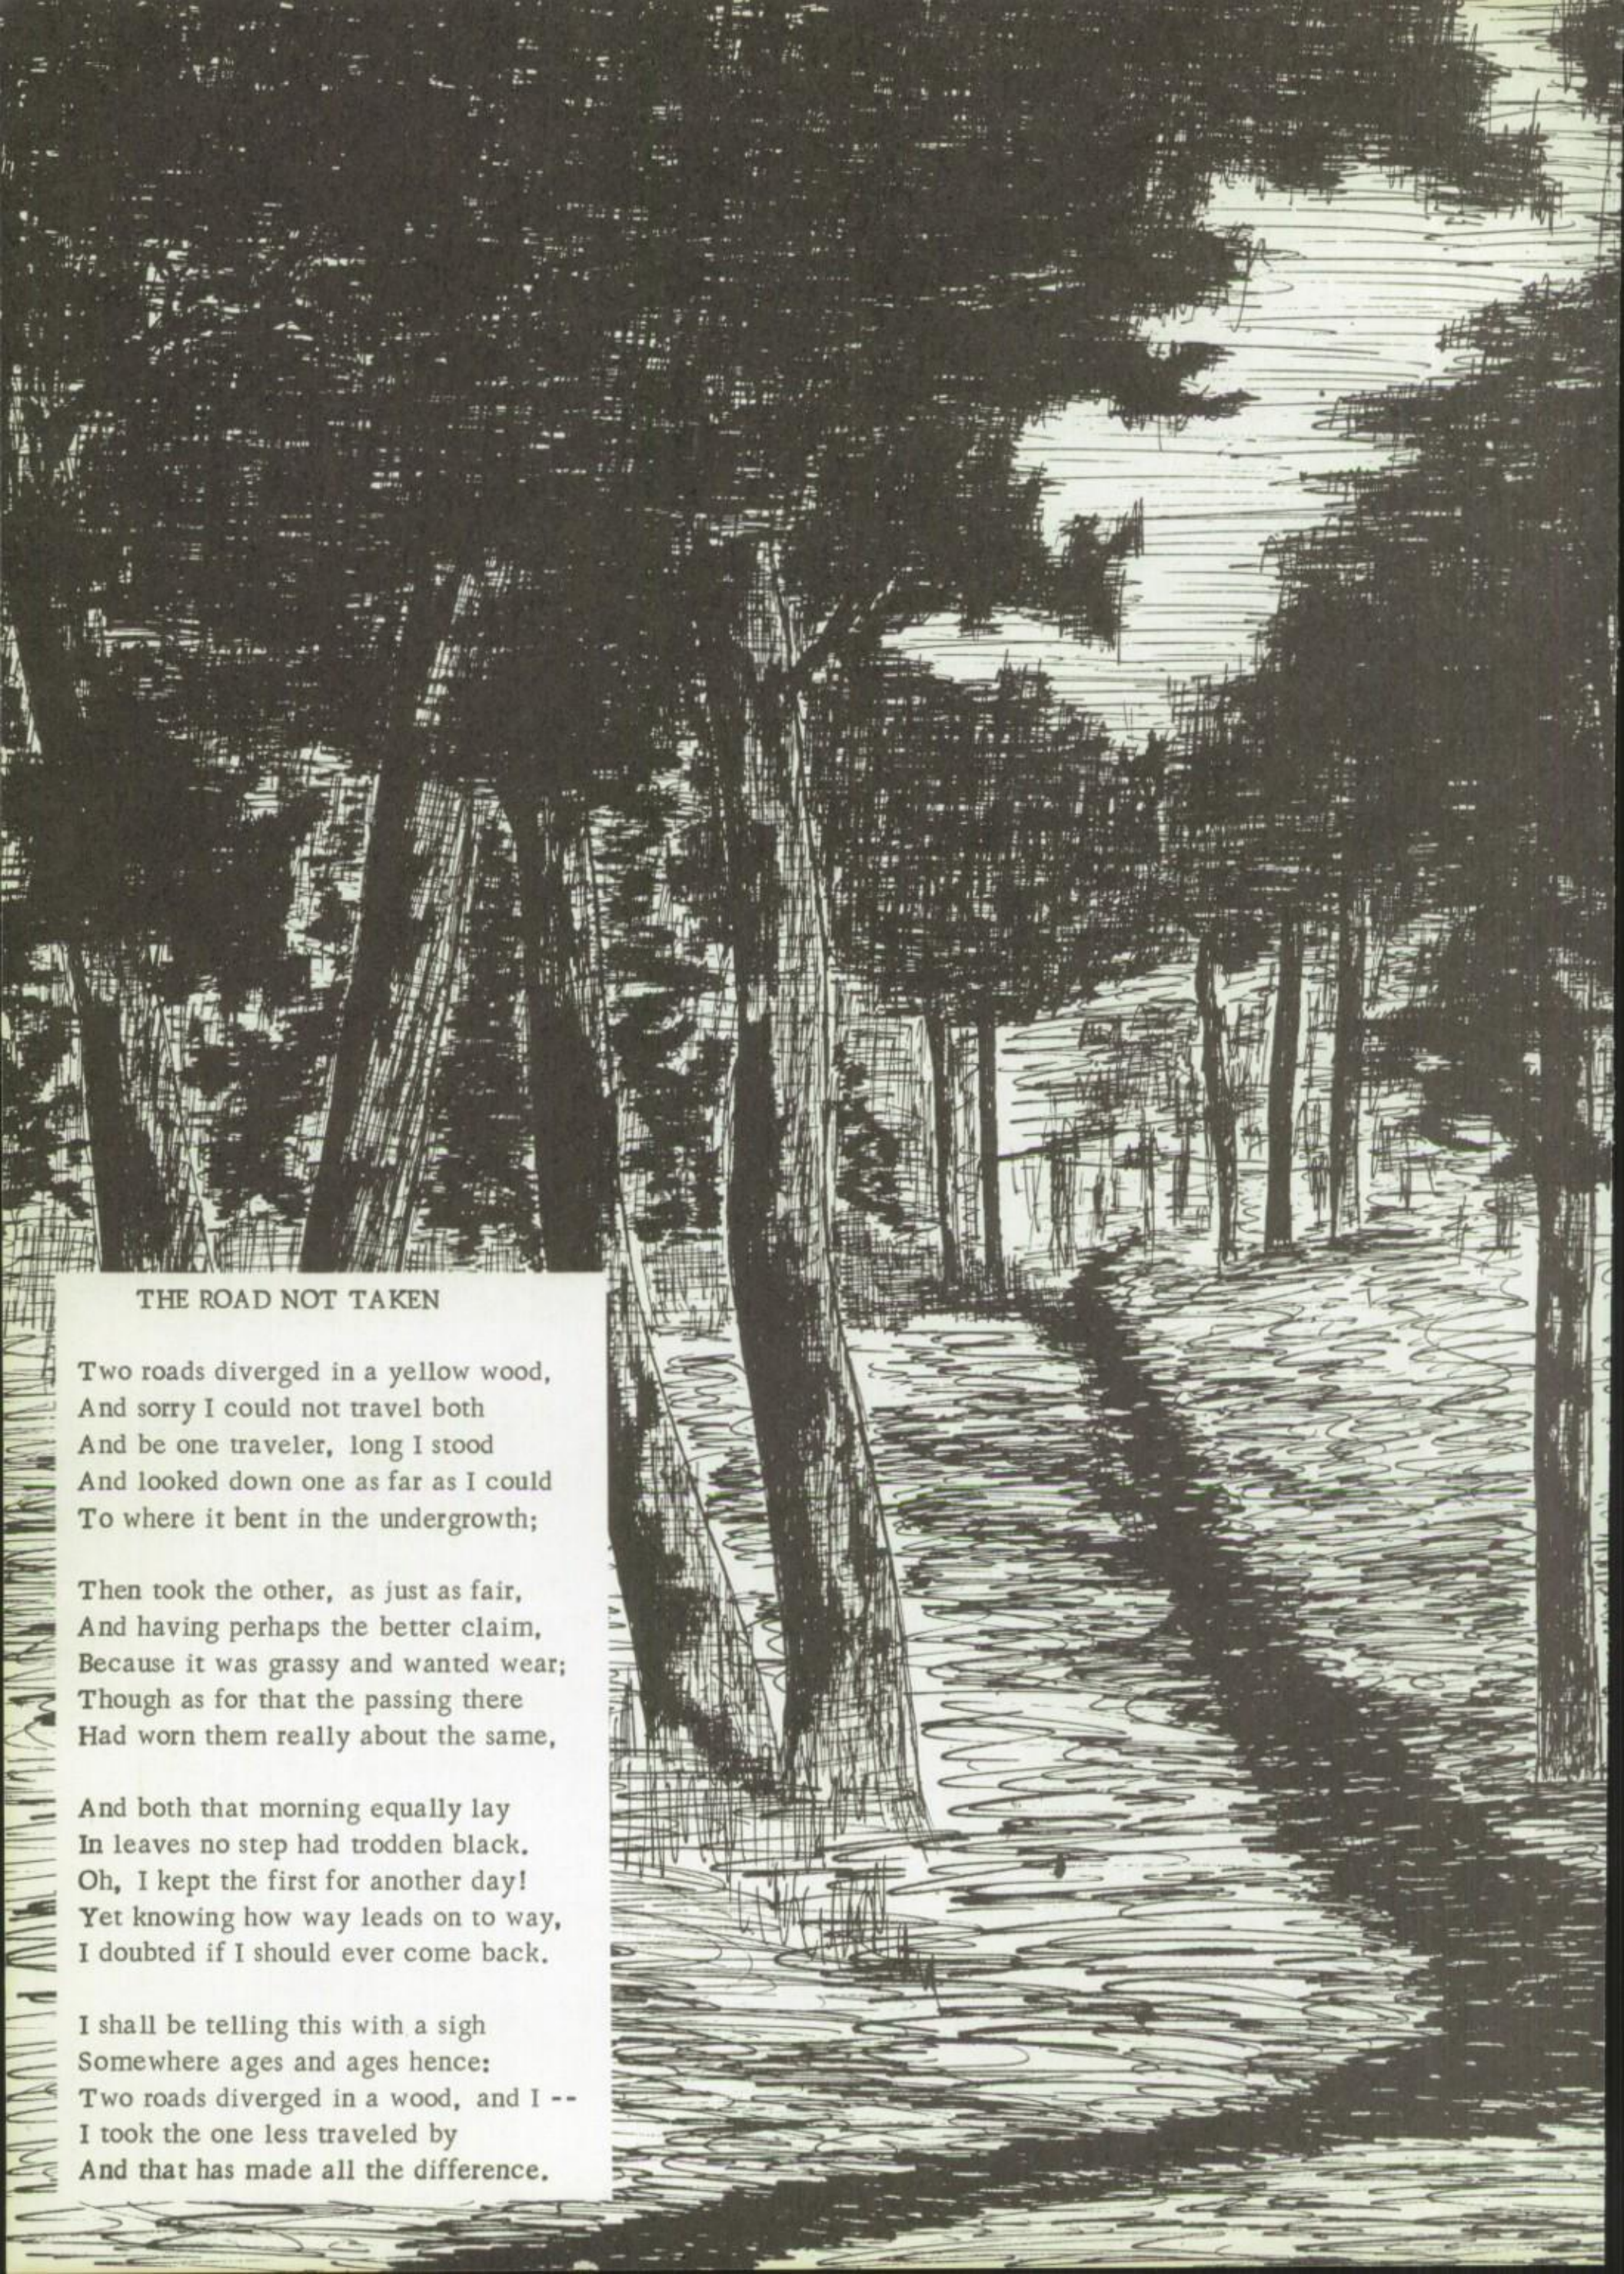
As students we approach crossroads daily and look for the guideposts to point the way.

More often than not, as we reflect on what might have been, we find that the guidepost was a friendly teacher, a classmate, a club or an organization or even a sentence from the Warrior Handbook which reads: A good warrior always . . . and this has made all the difference.

No one can ever have the time to travel two roads. As students striving to become useful happy adults, we simply try to follow our highest calling.

Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands, but like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them, you reach your destiny.--CARL SCHURZ

3130 E½ Road Grand Junction, Colorado



THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I --
I took the one less traveled by
And that has made all the difference.

I am not a teacher: only a fellow traveller of whom you have asked the way. I pointed ahead -- ahead of myself as well as of you.

Pleasure is a shadow, wealth is vanity and wealth is a pageant; but knowledge is ecstatic in enjoyment, perennial in fame, unlimited in space, and infinite in duration. In the performance of its sacred offices, it fears no danger, spares no expense, looks into the volcano, dives into the ocean, perforates the earth, wings its flight into the sky, explores sea and land, contemplates the distance, examines the minute, comprehends the great, ascends to the sublime - no place too remote for its grasp, no height too exalted for its reach.

Clubs and organizations are important guideposts. They offer opportunities for students to obtain leadership, to serve their school and community or to learn and appreciate the ways and customs of other cultures. At Central, the clubs and organizations are social clubs, service clubs and extra-curricular clubs related to the various courses offered.

The leadership, service, and educational value of the clubs and organizations at Central High offer experiences which are readily distinguished as valuable guideposts.

Mr. Jenkins

Art Club was established at Central in 1956.

In order for a student to belong to Art Club, he needs only to be enrolled in art, have had art, or plan to take it.

The purpose of art club has been to promote school spirit and also make art more meaningful to the student body. At present there is an effort to use Art Club for the possible source of increased art activity for those wishing to spend more time painting and doing silk screen work.

Art Club has a goal for each of its members; that is to become an Aesthete. Three hundred points are required, and points are earned by working on a variety of school and club projects.

Each year the award of outstanding senior art student is given to a deserving student.

Music education contributes to the health of the student through the development of correct posture, rhythmical deep breathing, voice hygiene, and other health habits. It offers a medium through which students learn discipline, self-control, accuracy and democratic attitudes. They learn to work together and to appreciate the importance of the individual in the success of the group. Participation in the making of music is the ultimate source of satisfaction and one experiences the thrill of performing music in cooperation with others.

Girls Athletic

GAA is a national organization formed to give girls additional opportunity to participate in sports and recreational activities. Any girl may belong to GAA. It is designed to promote good sportsmanship, good health, and an interest in recreational sports.

Each year awards and letters are given for points earned by participation in practices, playdays and club activities. These points are cumulative so that by the time a girl is a senior she may have earned Club numerals, a block C, and a gold pin.

Each year the girls choose the member they think has been the most outstanding in leadership, sportsmanship, and ability. This girl is awarded a trophy.

District-wide playdays are scheduled in each of the major sports areas. The girls meet students from other schools in competition.

Fun activities include parties, hikes, and picnics.

Drill Team

Any girl in the 10th, 11th, or 12th grade is eligible to try out for membership in front of faculty judges near the end of each school year and at the beginning of the new year.

The goal of the Warriorettes is to strengthen school spirit, to develop good sportsmanship, and to support all of our teams.

The group performs during halftime of football games and basketball games and wrestling matches. Every other year the team travels to BYU in Provo, Utah, to perform at the annual spring track and field invitational.

Through the club's activities and functions many personal characteristics are developed to help further the growth of each individual. The only reward the group receives is the satisfying knowledge that their best efforts have been expended to represent their school.

The Central High Future Teachers of America Club is organized for those students who are interested in teaching. Believing that these qualifications are the foundation of successful teaching, the club members strive to: take a realistic look at teaching, its opportunities, problems, nature, and service to humanity; study and identify the qualities, traits, and attitudes which good teachers possess and to develop them in themselves; explore their own interests, abilities, and skills so that they may be able to be sure that the decision to teach or not to teach is the right one; prepare themselves for college so that they may be successful students and leaders in the profession of their choice.

And gladly would he learn,
And gladly teach.

Distributive Education Club

Distributive Education, often referred to as D. E., is a program of instruction in merchandising, marketing, and management.

The program is designed for high school seniors who enroll in four subjects during their senior year and then during the afternoons are placed in training stations in local business firms of Grand Junction.

The classroom instruction received in areas such as advertising, salesmanship, window and interior display, job application and job interview, merchandise math, and business law is put into application by the student in his training station.

Every D. E. student becomes a member of the local chapter of D.E.C.A. (Distributive Education Clubs of America) at Central High, the state chapter of Colorado, and the national chapter.

D. E. offers high school seniors an opportunity to train for future occupations, obtain experience in an occupation of their choice and develop their leadership abilities.

The purpose of Latin Club is to give students further knowledge and understanding of Roman life, customs and government. Each year Central students take an active part in portraying Roman life by serving a Roman banquet in the spring. The students dress in Roman costumes and follow the Roman custom of eating while lounging.

The Central High Latin Club is a member of the Junior Classical League of America. Each year this organization sponsors a convention to acquaint the students with the functions of Roman government and life. This gives the students a better insight into the basis of our own democracy. The members are raising money this year to attend the convention to be held in Colorado Springs March 27.

The emblem of the National Honor Society is a keystone, upon which is a flaming torch. The keystone is a symbol of strength and perfection; the flaming torch symbolizes the light of knowledge and truth.

Mother's Club

Mother's Club was organized February 16, 1912, when the school was known as Fruitvale and contained grades 1-12. The Club had 28 charter members. One of those charter members, Mrs. Tom Moore, is still active.

Mother's Club is both a social and a service club. They meet monthly to conduct their business and to provide a social hour for the Central faculty.

In an effort to learn about CHS extracurricular activities, they have at each meeting a program presented by an organization.

The Club undertakes a variety of money raising activities each year and contributes the money it makes to worthwhile Central projects. Many departments, as well as individual students, have benefited from the help of Mother's Club.

A yearly tuition scholarship to Mesa College is provided by this organization which has also provided a large number of books for the CHS library.

Sports are guideposts. Through individual and team effort students learn to cooperate, to play and work hard, to offer their best to a cause outside themselves.

Self-discipline, a sense of fairness, team loyalty, and devotion to an ideal are a few of the desirable attributes engendered in an athletic program.

Central Warriors participate in four major sports: football, basketball, wrestling, and track. The 1964-65 school year saw a fifth sport introduced, golf.

The sports program at Central, with its opportunities for related activities and its coaching staff, is one of the finest in District 51.

Guideposts . . are quiet moments in your favorite corner of the library . . . or taking part in a school play . . . or listening to an instructor lecture . . .or guarding your opponent on the basketball floor . . . or singing in the chorus . . . or cheering for your team. In short, whatever experiences you may have had as a student at Central High School which caused you to stop and wonder, however briefly, served as a guidepost, directing you to adulthood.

September

The goldenrod is yellow
The corn is turning brown,
The trees in apple orchards
With fruit are bending down.

By all these lovely tokens
September's day is here,
With summer's best of weather
And autumn's best of cheer.

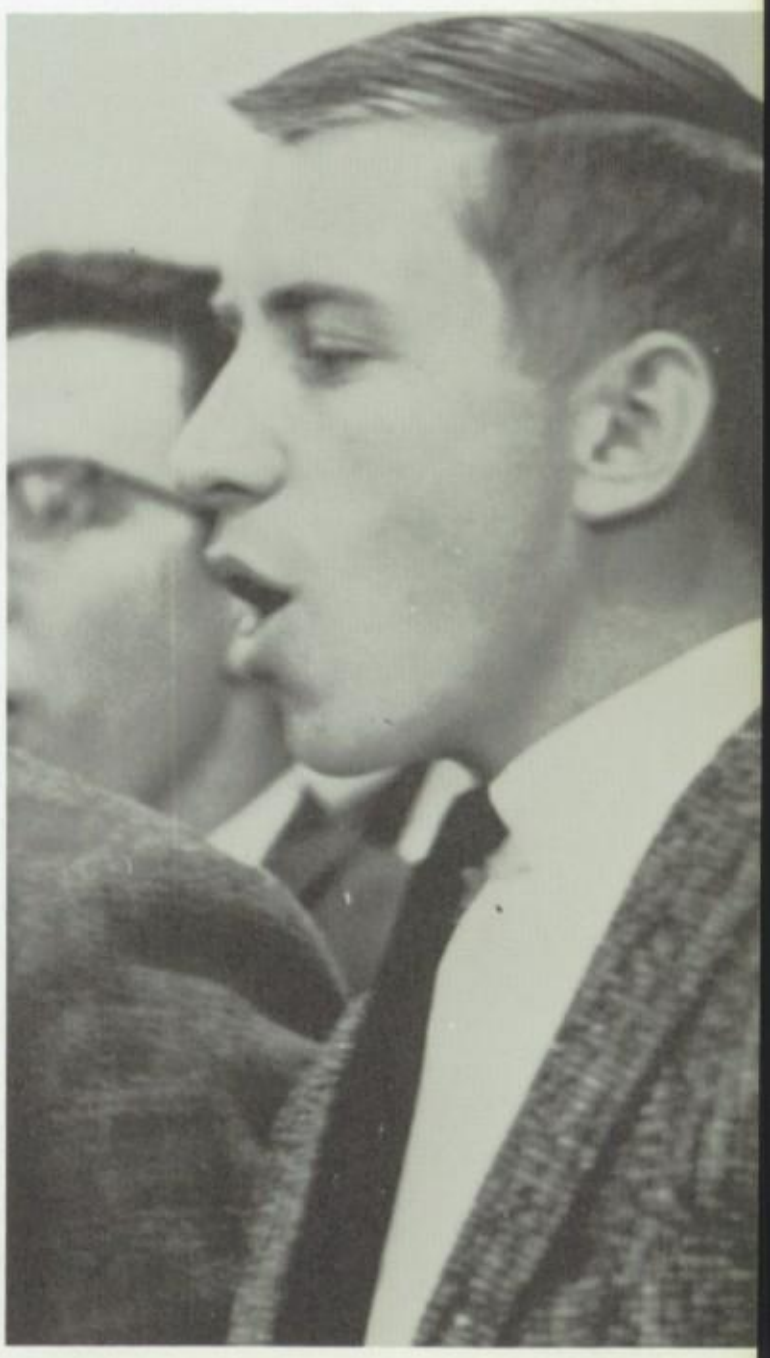
Vocalizing



October

About the chilly, ragged lawns they lie
In small decaying heaps. And pausing here,
I can but mark them sadly, crushed, forlorn,
Mute emblems of the slowly dying year.

Can they be those I saw so lately swing
Green-robed and merry on the maple trees,
And later, clad in flaming, golden gowns,
Joy-riding on the sweet October breeze?
Ride high and free, such little time ago
And now they lie so low! They lie so low!

And yet why pity them? Full well they lived
Their God-appointed plan died joyously,
And left a golden memory! Pray who
Could ask a fairer fate for them, or me?

December

Frost has sealed
The still December field.
Over fern and furrow,
Over the quickening
Within each meadowy acre,
Frost, invisibly thorough,
Spreads its thickening
Stiffening lacquer.

Above the field beneath a sky
Heavy with snow stirring to fly,
A tree stands alone,
Bare of fruit, leaves gone
Black as stone.

Christmas Assembly

The Christmas Assembly is a traditional event at Central High School. Each year every homeroom and club is given the name of a needy family for which to prepare a basket of food, clothing and toys. At the Christmas Assembly the winning baskets are named and then distributed.

One of the high points of the assembly is the arrival of Santa with lots of unusual gifts for members of the student body and faculty.

Boy! Am I bored!!

Like it or not, school days mean homework. One way you can help is by providing a well-lighted study area for those late-night sessions with the books. The best way to accomplish this is with a specially designed, ruggedly constructed study lamp from Public Service Company. Featuring a swing arm to bring direct lighting over the work area, a light diffusing bowl to prevent harsh glare and shadows and a washable shade to thwart doodlers, this is the perfect lamp for study. First Home . . . for the standard MEDALIST

Every year thousands of new homemakers happily discover that New Moon offers just about the perfect setting to begin housekeeping. . . for good reasons, too.

Like room-to-room spaciousness, and solid all-weather comfort. And the fact that a New Moon home comes furnished throughout.

Simply add dishes, linens, and silverware . . . and you're ready for instant living!

There's another good reason.

Economy. Real economy. A one, two, or three bedroom New Moon home can cost less than the furnishings alone in the average house.

What easier way could there be to get started with your very first, very own home.

We don't think there is any. . .
